

CARDINAL PENNANT 1976

Cardinal Pennant 1976 Wauwatosa East Senior High School Wauwatosa, Wisconsin

Advisor — Mary E. Kremer
 Editor — Jean M. Rehberger
 Associate Editor — Ellen M. Bartling

Cover sketch by Danita Cole is an early view of Wauwatosa looking eastward up Harwood Avenue.

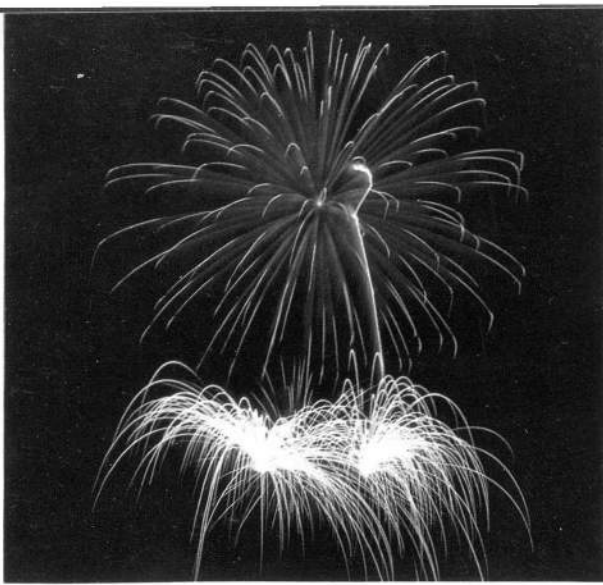

Printed by American Yearbook Company
 Formal Photography by Cilento Studios Inc.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Activities	6
Tosa Life	8
Organizations	28
Athletics	64
People	110
Faculty	112
Underclassmen	130
Graduates	158

America: The way it was, 1776

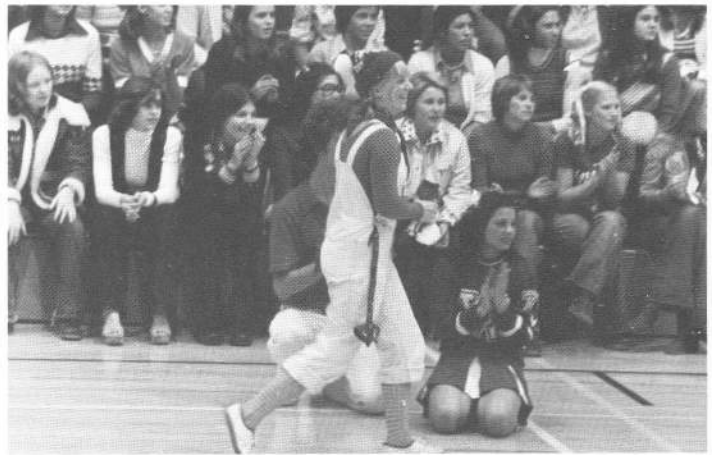

July 4, 1776, America becomes a nation. Surrounded by open frontiers, a minority of patriots strove to create a paradise of intellectual and religious freedom.

The industrial age turned the nation into a leader in manufacturing. The free enterprise system aided in the development of corporations that would reach across to Europe.

Immigrants were to make up what was to be called, "the melting pot." Each of their unique cultures and customs blended to form, "The American."

Wauwatosa East The Way It Is, 1976

The stump. Winning the East-West game. Sharing a locker with one shelf. Going up the learning center stairs in a skirt. Open lunch hour. Studying for an exam in the learning center. Skipping classes. Going to the library to talk where it's quiet. Missing the gym bus. Betting on life expectancy after eating a "Tosa Special." Tosa East the way it is.

